1.0 Purpose:

1.1 To identify key individual performance expectations associated with being a successful medical first responder.

2.0 Procedure:

- Think about safety! Use good judgment and make safety part of the equation.
- Maintain your registration with EHS Emergency Health Services. It is your responsibility to remain current and registered as a medical first responder.
- Provide the highest quality patient care possible within your scope of practice.
- Respond to EHS requests for service in a safe and efficient manner at all times. Every response should be approached as if it were a friend or family member in need.
- Wear the appropriate personal protective equipment.
- Complete EHS MFR Patient Care Record documentation and check for accuracy and legibility prior to submission.
- Help seek solutions for problems rather than simply identify them. Your input is essential to the success of this program.
- It is the medical first responder's individual responsibility to be aware of and comply with all policies and procedures, as well as registration requirements.
- It is the medical first responder's responsibility to wear his/her EHS MFR tag to identify themselves as part of the responding team.
- EHS paramedics and MFRs must work together as a team to provide safe and efficient pre-hospital care.
